Section 3

Internship Regulations for the Bachelor's degree programme
European Business Management (Bachelor of Arts)

- (1) From Winter Semester 2025/2026 onwards, no students will be admitted or enrolled in the Bachelor's programme in European Business Management for the first or higher semesters in accordance with the Study and Examination Regulations specified in Section 2.
- (2) All students enrolled in the Bachelor's programme in European Business Management before Winter Semester 2025/2026 will have the opportunity to complete their examinations up to and including Winter Semester 2032/2033. The same applies to the completion of final theses. Registration for the thesis should be made in good time so that any resubmission can be completed within this period. There is no further entitlement to examinations. Students who have not completed their studies within this period cannot be awarded a degree in this programme in addition to the regulations governing examinations (loss of examination entitlement). They must be exmatriculated unless they transfer to another programme at the Technical University of Applied Sciences Wildau or an exception applies in accordance with Section 4.

The regulations on the recognition of academic and examination achievements in accordance with the General Regulations and the Study and Examination Regulations of the Technical University of Applied Sciences Wildau apply to transfers to another degree programme at the Technical University of Applied Sciences Wildau.

(3) For students of the previous Bachelor's programme in European Business Management, the provisions on the deadlines for examinations and repeat examinations apply in accordance with the regulations of the General Regulations of the Technical University of Applied Sciences Wildau in conjunction with the Study and Examination Regulations for the degree programme.

Until these deadlines expire, students in the Bachelor's programme in European Business Management are allowed to take examinations in accordance with the relevant Study and Examination Regulations; with regard to the enrolment year of the last matriculation (Winter Semester 2024/2025), they are entitled to an appropriate range of courses, university services and to take part in examinations.

(4) If students have failed to fulfil study and examination requirements in accordance with Section 3 and are not responsible for this failure, or if the provision in Section 3 results in undue hardship as a consequence of these statutes, the Examinations Board may decide on exceptions. Exceptions are decided on a one-off and final basis. In such cases, the Examinations Board shall extend the examination period in accordance with Section 3 appropriately, depending on the case of hardship at hand, without concluding a study progress agreement. In the Bachelor's programme in European Business Management, the maximum possible length of an extension for reasons of hardship is until the end of the respective standard period of study for the programme concerned plus a further ten semesters, calculated from Summer Semester 2028. The extension of the examination period and exemption from study programme advice shall not be granted if the disadvantage has already been compensated for within the framework of the programme. After the expiry of the extension of the examination period granted on grounds of hardship, Section 2 shall apply.

(5) Unreasonable hardship as understood in Section 4 exists if a student was prevented from meeting the deadlines specified in Section 3 due to exceptional circumstances beyond their control. These include, in particular:

- a.) Periods during which the student was forced to interrupt their studies due to illness,
- b.) periods during which a student's studies were extended due to a prolonged or permanent disability or chronic illness,
- c.) periods of maternity leave and periods during which students were restricted in their ability to study due to the birth of a child and the necessary care and provision for the child after birth, up to a maximum of two semesters,
- d.) periods spent caring for a close relative in need of care in accordance with the Care Leave Act.

The student must substantiate the existence of undue hardship by presenting the facts and evidence in writing, in the case of illness or disability by submitting a medical certificate from a specialist.

(6) If a student in the Bachelor's programme in European Business Management still has a right to take examinations and the opportunity to take the examinations required to complete their studies, in line with the above provisions, even though the corresponding courses and examinations are no longer available, the student must immediately consult with the responsible degree programme director to agree on an individual examination plan for completing the programme (study plan). If this degree programme director is not a university lecturer, he or she must consult a university lecturer for this advice. The study plan shall be recorded in writing and signed by the student, the degree programme director and, if applicable, the university lecturer consulted, and shall be added to the student's file. A copy shall be given to the student, the Department of Admission and Examinations and the Examinations Board responsible.

If the student fails to comply with this obligation, the Examinations Board responsible may, after issuing a notification and a deadline of a reasonable period of time, refuse the right to take the examination, notwithstanding Section 2.
